2014 USBC Senior Queens Stepladder Finalists (L-R) Tish Johnson, Paula Vidad, Robin Romeo, Lucy Sandelin

Star-Studded U.S. Squad Selected for World Senior Event

ARLINGTON, TX - Eight of the best senior bowlers in the country will represent the United States at the World Bowling Senior Championships later this year.

The National Selection Committee selected the four men and four women who will make up the U.S. squad at Sam's Town Bowling Center in Las Vegas from Aug. 24-30.

On the men's side, the United States will be represented by Lennie Boresch of Kenosha, Wisconsin, Bob Learn Jr. of Lantana, Florida, Johnny Petraglia of Jackson, New Jersey, and Ron Mohr of North Las Vegas, Nevada.

The women's squad will be made up of Tish Johnson of Colorado Springs, Colorado, Lucy Sandelin of Tampa, Florida, Paula Vidad of Sun City, California, and Robin Romeo of Newhall, California.

The eight players have no shortage of domestic and international experience.

Learn claimed the 1999 U.S. Open title and also won the 2001 Japan Cup, while Mohr is a three-time Team USA member and eight-time winner on the Professional Bowlers Association's PBA50 Tour.

Petraglia, a member of the United States Bowling Congress and PBA halls of fame, has 14 career PBA Tour titles continued on page 4

Silver Lake Atom Splitters, L.A. X Advance to PBA League Elias Cup Finals Two more sudden-death roll-offs needed to decide championship finalists

PORTLAND - The defending champion Bass Pro Shops Silver Lake Atom Splitters and the Wheaties L.A. X survived an intense semifinal round, capped by two more suddendeath roll-offs, to advance to the third annual Professional Bowlers Association League Elias Cup Finals at Bayside Bowl. The finals will air Sunday (April 19) at 1 p.m. ET on ESPN.

The semifinal round, which aired last Sunday on ESPN, completed a highly-competitive Baker team series at Bayside Bowl which saw all six best-of-two-game elimination matches decided by sudden-death roll-offs. Bowling in front of a loud, enthusiastic crowd of Maine

bowling fans, Silver Lake won a chance to defend its Elias Cup

title by rallying to defeat the Concrete Software BROOK-LYN STyLES while L.A. X HotelPlanner.com Pittsburgh

Jack Rabbits.

In the first semifinal match, Silver Lake rolled four strikes out of the gate, but Brooklyn answered with a string of five strikes and clinched a 244-230 victory when Sean Rash and Parker Bohn III put together three strikes in the final two frames. Silver Lake anchor bowler Dick Allen could have given the Atom Splitters a 1-0 lead with a strike on his first shot in the 10th frame, but he left the 1-2-4-6-10 to end his team's hopes.

In game two, both teams struggled to carry back-toback strikes. A double by Mika continued on page 4

ANDREW TORO Jr's 874 is Canyon Lanes Record

CABAZON — Andrew Toro Jr. just rolled the highest three game series I have witnessed. He rolled his Canyon Lanes house record 874 (298 -279 - 297) against me and my doubles teammate, THERESE LLOYD, sweeping us 4 - 0.

CAN YOU IMAGINE someone rolling 33 of 36 strikes in one series? CAN YOU IMAGINE three games, each with eleven strikes? CAN YOU IMAGINE 874?

I don't have to imagine any of the above because I witnessed Andrew roll 33 of 36 strikes. I watched him roll 11

ESPN "30 for 30" documentary about PBA Hall of Famer Pete Weber, "The Bad Boy of Bowling," is making its debut at film festivals around the country on its way to a yet-tobe-announced premier as part of ESPN "30 for 30" series.

"It's been a secret until now, but we are happy to announce that our film. "The Bad Boy of Bowling," will be making its way into the world in the upcoming months,"

"The film tells the story of Pete Weber, the self-declared 'bad boy of bowling' and the first rock star of the sport."

The film made its formal debut at the Ashland Independent Film Festival in Ashland, Ore., April 10, 11, 12 and 13, followed by showings at IFF Boston April 22-29 and the San Francisco International Film Festival at Sundance Kabuki Cinemas April 25 and May 5.

"The World Games Are Coming!"

NORWALK - Special Olympics World Games, Los Angeles 2015, July 25 - August 2nd.

The biggest event since 1984 when the Olympics were held here. There will be 700 athletes. 177 countries represented. 500,000 spectators. 30,000 volunteers. 3,000 coaches.

To kick off this great event, Corbin Bowl in Tarzana will be hosting a bowling benefit Sunday, May 31st from 4-7 p.m. to support and raise money for the Special Olympics World Games.

Scott Frager with Pinz Bowling Center will host 100 athletes from Puerto Rico and Cuba July 22nd from 1-1:30 p.m. They do this as a host city to entertain the athletes from other countries.

The Special Olympics Bowling competition will be held at Lucky Strike at L.A. Live.

Gary Montgomery from Sherman Oaks, CA has been selected as Bowling Competition Manager. Montgomery is no stranger to working with developmentally disabled athletes. For the last 24 years he has supported the New Horizons in North Hills. He has also taken over a bowling program formerly run by L.A. Parks & Rec. Dept. when they were cut from the budget. The leagues bowl at Corbin Bowl every Saturday morning. He was also one of the 3 bowling officials in 1999 at the Special Olympics World Game in North Carolina.

Gary's face lit up when he said, "The Special Olympics Athletes bring a smile to my face and heart. They show me the true meaning of courage, dedication and joy. To be chosen as the Bowling Competition Manager for Special Olympics Southern California and the World Games, it doesn't get any better than that! What an honor! Thank you."

Mario Rodrigues was selected as one of only three Bowling

Mario Rodriguez & Gary Montgomery

THE STATE OF BOWLING

A DISCUSSION WITH LEGENDARY HALL-OF-FAMER, CAROL MANCINI

Editor's note: Bowling has seen many changes over the years. With the number of league bowlers in steady decline, I thought it was time to discuss the situation with someone who's knowledge and opinion I highly respect. Unfortunately...... only Steve showed up.

Carol: Well Steve, I'll keep this simple. Over the years, do you think the changes made to our sport have made it a better?

Steve: Better is in the eyes of the beholder. While certain aspects of bowling are very different today, the game itself remains intact. All things evolve; bowling is no exception. In some ways it's better, but in others it's not. Change is a double-edged sword.

Carol: What do you mean? Changes are either good or bad.

Steve: Like I said, it depends on your point of view. If we examine all the changes, I'm sure we can find positives and negatives for all of them.

Carol: Okay, let's start with electronic scorekeeping. Hasn't that corrupted our sport beyond repair?

Steve: Corrupted? That's pretty strong language. You must not like it very much.

Carol: I really don't! But what do you think of it?

Steve: Personally, I.....

Carol: Oh, never mind! Here are my thoughts about those monstrosities! I HATE 'EM!!! How are kids supposed to learn about bowling without learning to keep score?

Steve: On the other hand, those "monstrosities" make accurate record-keeping much easier and less expensive for everybody. Just ask your friend, Lucy Seiple or any other league secretary.

Carol: I still hate them! Understanding scoring is an important part of this game! Beginners should start like we did; with pencil and paper!

Steve: But think of all the trees that have been turned into housing and furniture instead of scrap-paper in a landfill. That's good for businesses and the environment.

Carol: GRRRRRRR!

Steve: Okay! Just for you, we'll put Auto-Score in the "BAD!" column......

Carol: Absolutely!

Steve: .....but I doubt it has anything to do with the declining number of bowlers.

Carol: I disagree. I'll bet there are lots of old-timers who would love to come back and roll a few games, but don't because they can't figure out how to use those things!

Steve: Good point, but kids don't have a problem with them. Maybe some bowl because they don't have to learn to keep score. Maybe pencil and paper should be optional.

Carol: "H.. E.. double-hockey-sticks" must be freezing over! I just agreed with you about something!

Comments or questions? PICK UP THE PHONE!!! Call Carol Mancini @ 1-562-807-3600 (Monday 2-7 PM PT). Email: news@californiabowlingnews.com. We'd love to hear from you!

Koivuniemi and Chris Barnes gave Silver Lake a temporary 12pin lead in the seventh frame, but Craig Nidiffer's 4-6-10 split helped Brooklyn get back in the game. The match came down to the 10th frame where Allen threw three strikes to lock up a 204-192 decision and send the match into a roll-off where his strike gave Silver Lake the win, 10-9, after Bohn left a 10 pin.

It was a match where Silver Lake manager Mark Baker front-loaded his lineup with proven stars Koivuniemi (15 career titles) and Barnes (18 titles), followed by Nidiffer (no title), Tom Daugherty (one title) and Allen (three titles) because "Mika and Chris throw the ball the straightest," Baker said. "I thought the lane condition would break down more than it did."

The surprising lineup put Allen in position to deal with the 10th-frame pressure, but it was situation he embraced.

"In the first game, I picked up the wrong ball," Allen said of his five-count shot in the 10th frame. "But I got loose and picked up the right ball the next time, and that was the key.

"I knew (the roll-off) shot was good when I let it go," he added. "I like being in that position. I want to be there. That's what makes you a better bowler."

In the second semifinal match, Pittsburgh started with a pair of single-pin spares followed by a string of five strikes, running away with a 234-197 win. But game two also turned into a struggle for both teams to throw back-to-back strikes. The Jack Rabbits filled every frame, but managed only two strikes. L.A. X got the lead when Sweden's Martin Larsen, Australia's Jason Belmonte and England's Stuart Williams threw consecutive strikes in the middle of the game, and held on for a 202-190 decision to send the match into sudden-death.

In the roll-off, Pittsburgh's Wes Malott (4 pin) and Belmonte (10 pin) bowled first and tied, 9-9. Pittsburgh's Ryan Ciminelli and L.A. X's Williams each threw strikes. On the third roll-off shot. Larsen struck and the Jack Rabbits' Osku Palermaa left a 10 pin to send L.A. X into the Elias Cup finals.

That's why you practice hour after hour, and travel so much, and leave your family - for moments like this," Larsen said. "It's great when you do it for yourself, but it's five times more fun when you do it for your team."

Next Sunday's Elias Cup title match will consist of singles, alternate-ball doubles and Baker trios matches – each worth one point - and a Baker team match that will be worth three points. If the match ends in a 3-3 tie, the title will be decided in a one-ball sudden-death roll-off.

Tess Dizon Wins 1st ABTA Title at Keystone Taino Wins Match Series with his 574 worth $2115 MATCH GAME Est $2,500 • MYSTERY MATCH DOUBLES Est $1,500 Match Series Est $1,000 3-6-9 is $1,000 We visit the Bowlium Saturday SPECIAL FROZEN HANDICAP EVENT

NORWALK — We returned to Keystone Lanes where we had 6 new members. A semi tough shot produced cut scores of +67 for the men and +48 for the Women. Also making the Board as Super Seniors were Pablo Castro +57 Sun Sundara +49 and Veronica Boone +25. Atop the qualifying Boards were Arnold Trias +172 for the men and Tess Dizon led the ladies with +89. They will receive Paid Entries to any Regular ABTA Event.

Arnold drew for the Match Series pot $2,115 and it was a 574. Jeff Taino was buying the Beer as he hit the magical 574 on that night. He is Most Deserving!!

Veronica drew the Mysterv Match Doubles score, a 335 with no one matching the number so we will estimate the Mystery Match Doubles at $1,100 including a $415 carryover from Keystone.

Jeff Taino again?? YES!! He was last standing for the 3-6-9 Pot $9. He missed on the first shot getting him a nice $100 Bonus. The Pot goes for $1,000 Saturday at Bowlium.

In the Doubles, the top spot went to the duo of Arnold Trias and Leo Silva with 1403 and $100. The Doubles action was light at Keystone but we still paid 9 places and $570. Look for much more Saturday. Low to cash was 1354.

The semifinals took the floor with 35 bowlers in hopes of making the exciting top 16 Single Elim Finals including 3 guaranteed women. All others to cash accordingly.

After the three game set the cut to the top 16 was a tie +31 for the men with Gibin Kim, and P. J. Yarns having a 9-10 frame roll-off. P. J. would advance to the top 16 and Gibin cashing in the 17th spot. Women +8 made the top 16 which was a surprised and happy Mrs. Emily Yeung. After the 3 games Tess Dizon was the leader by 3 scant pins 707 to Kristian Bueno at 704 to fill the bracket. Tess will now have the right to sit out and bowl for the title. Mr. Bueno 2nd received a first round by and entered in round two of the eliminations.

Tess would draw the Match Game which was worth $1,405. She drew an unmatched 156. We will estimate the Match Game to be $2,500 Saturday at Bowlium.

The Single Elim Finals began and in round one we saw P. J. Yarns, Faye Josefat, Pablo Castro, Mamerto Jablan, Kelly Wynn, and Louis Evans eliminated, finishing in 10th-16th Places and $100. Round 2 had some fine bowling but eliminated were Emily Yeung, William Zarek, Gil Gissendaner and Kristian Bueno. They finished in 6th-9th Places.

Round 3 had Du Quach step up and eliminate Arnold Trias. Jason Buenviaje downed Chris Abing. So Chris and Arnold were 4th and 5th with Quach to bowl Buenviaje for the right to meet Tess Dizon in the Title Game

This match was again close, both bowlers appeared weary and Jason having a back problem. In the end Jason wins 209-194 with Du The "Super Coiffeur" Quach in 3rd and $200 with Jason on to the title game vs Tess Dizon.

The title game was on with Tess deciding to lead off. Nerves must have gotten to Tess as she whiffed her first two easy spares. Jason was clean after 3 frames and fouled on a spare in the 4th. He was Tess struck and was clean all the way in a 147-189 count to Jason at 161-180. Final Scores are in and the "Lady Is a Champ" and deservedly so. She bowled well and in fact got the games only double on a tough condition. This is what it takes. Great Bowling by a Pretty and Nice Lady who had a runner-up before in an ABTA Event at Del Rosa. She now ties husband Lito at one Title each :-) Great Bowling Tess. We are all proud of you. Tess took home $500 bowling on the Reduced Entry Special. Jason bowled well even enduring lower back pain. One of the best bowers in the History of the ABTA. Great Bowling by a nice man and kudos for Andy "Du" Quach in 3rd who could have been our winner with a break or two.

Tess Dizon hails form San Bernardino and married to Lito, an ABTA Champion.

They have a pretty daughter Angelina who is always at the ABTA with them and known by most people. She used a 900 Global Dream-ON drilled just Saturday by Marv Sargent at Foothill Lanes .Tess is well-liked by all. Congrats 6:00PM. Semis 8PM. Top 16 single elims to follow. APRIL 25 we bowl at West

NATIONAL DEAF BOWLING NEWS by Connie Marchione BOB JONES TOPS DEAF TRAVEL WITH 885, STANSELL 268 AT WINNETKA BOWL

WINNETKA - Southern California Deaf traveling League already had its scheduled 2nd position round last March 8 and the lane schedule for match ups for teams placing unexpected happens to have like another position round at Winnetka Bowl. The scheduled team numbers 2-3, 5-4 and 1-6 match-ups had 4th place S F Valley against 5th place Riverside, 4th place Mid City against 3rd place Hollywood and 1st place Orange County versus 2nd place Eagle Rock.

The action at Winnetka shown Bob Jones leading the league for the third consecutive session with 885 from all twos 205-211-228-242. After Jones were his opponent Ed Abakumoff with 211-225-196-215 for 847, Gorman Low with 192-226-234-193 for 845, Jeff Stansell with 178-180-(10 strikes in row)268-159 for 785, Dan Flores with (205) 731, Connie Marchione with 726 and 200s from Paul Taffolla, Jr 206 and Robert Audette 204. The high lady that day was Celia Salcedo with 196 game and 636 series.

Flores' Orange County retained first place with a near sweep 14-6 win over Audette's Eagle Rock. Eagle Rock fell in third place as third place Low's Hollywood moved up to second with a near sweep 16-4 win over 4th place Stansell's Mid City. Hollywood's ensuing win put it 4.5 points from first place. In the battle to get out of the cellar 6th place Abakumoff's Riverside beat 5th place Jones' S F Valley 13-7. That put both teams in a tie 123.5 points each for continuing fight to get out of the cellar.

Overlooked in the excitement of Stansell's 10 strikes in row from 9rd frame to struck out in 10th 268 in third game along with Salcedo's 196 and absent Paul Taffolla, Sir's 160 gave Mid City 624 team game, 9 pins short of S F Valley's 633 season high team game. Hollywood with Jim Mohr's 643, Marchione's 726 and Low's 845 and steady team games of 559-559-555-541 total of 2214 took over season high team series from Mid City's 2198.

The bowlers were sadden with closure of one of its traveling center Mission Hills Bowl at end of this season. The league had voted to have its end of season sweepstakes at Mission Hills Bowl as a farewell appreciation for a great center to have bowled in.

The league thanks Winnetka Bowl management and staff for being a good host. Next travel center is Cal Bowl in Lakewood on Sunday April 26 at 1:00 PM. With two sessions left to bowl the team match-ups at Cal Bowl are Mid City vs. Orange County, S F Valley vs. Eagle Rock and Riverside vs. Hollywood. After that will be the final position round of the season on May 3 Noon at Covina Bowl.

Bowlers Deeply Saddened at Announced Closing of Mission Hills Landmark by FRED EISENHAMMER

MISSION HILLS - It's time to mourn the passing of yet another San Fernando Valley bowling center.

This time it's Mission Hills Bowl, which will be closing May 31 after a run of nearly 41 years. Bill Mossontte, the managing partner of Mission Hills Bowl, made the surprise announcement to about 25 of his employees last week and then wrote a first-person story in the California Bowling News explaining his action.

It was an insurance and affordability issue, wrote Mossontte, who owns varying ownership stakes in many other Los Angelesarea bowling centers, including Corbin Bowl in Tarzana.

'We are faced with spending a couple of hundred thousand dollars to do electrical and plumbing upgrades to the 65-year-old building or we have been informed our insurance will be nonrenewed," Mossontte wrote.

He added that it "wasn't possible to continue" with just a "few years remaining on our existing lease and no chance at a new lease.

The closing represents a devastating blow to about 1,100 bowlers who participate in league play at the north San Fernando Valley bowling center and are faced with scrambling to find a replacement center.

"This is home. It's always been home," said Mike Brandt, who has rolled five perfect games and has been a regular league player at Mission Hills Bowl for more than 20 years.

'You could come down any time and see your friends. And the [center's] personnel are always terrific. People are always coming by who you could relax with and have a good time. The pro shop's Rusty [Bryant] and Karl [Kurtz] - they just don't get better than that.

Brandt's wife, Francis, echoed those sentiments.

"It's like my second home - with no reservations," she said, smiling. "We're going to miss it."

Only six years earlier, another iconic bowling center closed -AMF Rocket Bowl in Chatsworth. That landmark had been in business for 47 years. The closing of Rocket Bowl - known as Comet Bowl when it opened in 1962 - represented a similarly heavy blow to players

After the closing of Rocket Bowl, Keith Kitti spoke of his sadness of losing a treasured facility - much the way Mission Hills Bowl players are now feeling.

"The center was part of the Golden Age of bowling," said Kitti, who was Rocket Bowl's facility manager when it shut. "And it just added another chapter to the end of the era. It wasn't so much a business as a gathering of friends. It was a watering hole of sorts. It was a place where the same people gathered for 52 weeks a year and they would come not planning to spend a dime as much as to engage and talk."

The 24-lane Mission Hills Bowl is among about 25 Valleyarea bowling centers to shut in the past 30 years.

It's common knowledge that bowling centers have been closing every year across the country because of the financial difficulties they face.

Only two years ago, Bowlmor swooped in to rescue the huge AMF Bowling Worldwide chain from bankruptcy. At the time, Bowlmor was a chain of six upscale bowling houses known for its Las Vegas-style sports look and laneside food and drink service.

Bowlmor was the only company willing to bid on AMF, which had fallen into bankruptcy for the second time in 10 years.

Tom Shannon, now the chief executive officer, chairman and president of Bowlmor AMF, has said that if Bowlmor had not entered the picture, AMF would likely have been forced to sell its bowling centers - or would have closed its facilities.

So financial conditions have been crimping the style of many bowling houses. Many of the Mission Hills Bowl staff members and players had suspected that its beloved center was running out of time.

David Critchfield, who works at Mission Hills Bowl as a customer service manager, has been with the facility for 20 years. He said he was not totally surprised when Mossontte announced that the facility was planning to close.

'We knew it would be sooner or later," he said. "We just didn't think it would come this quickly.'

'It's been a pleasure to be a bowling proprietor'

One of the key staff members at Mission Hills Bowl is Rusty Bryant, who works in the bowling center's pro shop. He also is an elite bowler with 65 perfect games and 33 800 series. Photo by FRED EISENHAMMER

From left, David Critchfield, Francis Brandt and Mike Brandt have been fixtures at Mission Hills Bowl for more than 20 years. nament six times between 2006 and 2012. "It's a great bowling center. Too bad it went down," said Dick Sanders, the WCST's owner and director.

Another feather in the cap of Mission Hills Bowl is its league program, which enlists a whopping 1,100 bowlers, many of whom are of the high-roller variety. "We're way up there [in league participation]," Mossontte said. "We have many more than other bowling alleys, especially in L.A. I've always been a big proponent of leagues."

One of the more heart-warming stories is that a Mission Hills Bowl league named the "Friday Foxes" is still alive and well. That all-women, Friday-morning league started when the bowling center opened. "The women were all in their 20s," Mossontte said, "and some [of the same] women are still there. We had a lot more then, but we still have 20-30."

The bowling center also has had a special-needs program and has made a special effort to help disadvantaged bowlers find a niche through bowling. "We've turned around a lot of lives through bowling," Mossontte said. Bowling centers have been closing across the nation each year - especially the ones that don't own the land at their site. And that was the case with Mission Hills Bowl. "The owner of [our] shopping center said when the lease is up, 'it's over,' "Mossontte said. "It's not viable to have a bowling center when you can have a building twice as big and collect eight times the rent. "Land is very valuable and the worst thing you can put on land is a bowling center."

"It's a very sad and emotional day for me. It's been 41 years of my life.'

So said Bill Mossontte, the managing partner of Mission Hills Bowl, which will be closing May 31.

Mossontte launched the bowling center on Sepulveda Boulevard in the north San Fernando Valley on Aug. 16, 1974. Since then, the bowling center has enjoyed many highlights and has served some of the top bowlers in the area and nationwide.

For a 25-year period, the bowling center grabbed national attention when it hosted a Western Women's Professional Bowlers tournament on an annual basis.

We were very successful at it and stopped about three or four years ago when participation was dwindling," Mossontte said.

The biggest names in women's bowling took part in that tournament, which included United States Bowling Congress Hallof-Famers Tish Johnson and Robin Romeo.

Both of those bowlers, incidentally, have used Mission Hills Bowl as their home bowling center and have rolled numerous perfect games and 800 series there.

Another bowler who made a name for himself at Mission Hills Bowl was Bryan Alpert, who bowled a 299, 300 and 800 series with each hand in the 1996-97 season. That means that Alpert rolled in that one year a 299 left-handed and right-handed and the same for a 300 and 800 series.

Alpert, now the manager of Corbin Bowl in Tarzana, racked up all those scores at the Mission Hills bowling center.

"At the time it happened, I wasn't aware of the impact it would have," said Alpert," whose feat earned him recognition as the USBC ambidextrous record holder - a mark that stands today. He now has rolled approximately 30 800 series and 60 perfect games and bowls just as well with either hand.

Alpert called Mission Hills Bowl a "bowling landmark. It's an unusual bowling center because it was so full of die-hard bowlers. It was old school. Bowlers went there just to bowl . . . You have to tip your cap to the bowling center. It was 41 great years.

Eric Forkel, perhaps the best professional bowler to come out of the San Fernando Valley, also has been a well-known presence at Mission Hills Bowl. He sent an email expressing his disappointment about the news of the center's imminent closure.

"I spent a lot of time practicing there back in the '80s and '90s," wrote Forkel, now a Henderson, Nev., resident. "Bill was always a great proprietor and was a fan of scratch bowling. I hate to see the old centers go and all the nostalgia with it.

"Back in the '80s, my coach ran the Pro Shop there and I was there a lot. It seems like more and more that these great old places are going away, kind of like the dinosaurs, I guess. Wow, I guess that makes me a fossil too."

And Johnnie Englehart, arguably the top bowler in the L.A. area, has been a regular in Mission Hills Bowl's ultra-competitive Thursday night scratch league.

Mission Hills Bowl has hosted a West Coast Senior Tour tour-

The Mission Hills Bowl lease still had four years to run, but Mossontte was faced with insurance issues that required several hundred thousand dollars in improvements.

"It was just pure economics," he said about the closing.

He expects the bowling center will be torn down and that the entire shopping center will be revamped.

Mossontte said his "No. 1 priority" now is to look after his employees. "No. 2," he said, is to find a new home for his bowlers.

"I want them to land somewhere," he said.

Mossontte remains the owner in varying stakes in many other bowling centers, such as Corbin Bowl and Valencia Lanes in the Santa Clarita Valley.

"It's been a pleasure to be a bowling proprietor and I'll continue to be one," said Mossontte, adding that "the best friends I've made have been bowlers - without question."

The Professional Approach Sweep Again, Increases Lead

DOWNEY — Following up a record setting week where we saw six perfect games and two 800 series, the league was able to continue its record setting ways, however, The Professional Approach did manage to stay nearly perfect, winning again, 5-0 to expand their lead for the fifth and final round to 4 games moving to 18-2 on the round. Tonight it was Billy Myers Jr. and Jared Lawrence leading the way with 258/720 & 279/709 respectively. They swept past Blizz Yogurt who were topped by David Cogswell with 685. Moving into 2nd place was Threadworks, who also gained a sweep, brushing aside Pino's Pizza 5-0. Eric Snow 278/733 & Butch Jackson 276/724 paved the way for the winners, while Joshua Tajiri shot 678 for Pino's.

Power House Video Games stayed in contention with a 4-1 win over Los Altos Trophies, despite 3 700 series from the Trophy troop. Lee Liu 278/754 and Nicole, not Eddie VanDaniker, 246 paced Power House, while Los Altos got strong efforts from PJ Yarns 719, Jonathan Huezo 714, and Buddy Lucas 710. Team DV8 overcame a game 1 loss and came back to win 4-1. Leading the comeback was Sam Hitchcock with 693, while Mikey Villarreal paced Herzog Insurance with 673.

Tonight's top scorer was Joe Jimenez who had 279/278/803 for CASAMIGO'S Tequila, but it was only good for two wins, as Alhambra Coin Center used a huge game 1 to maintain Total Series by 7 pins, and finish 3-2. George Gaucin led Alhambra with a pair of 268 games to end with 762. Linder Insurance swept past Tifco Industries 5-0 as it was Ladies Night on their pair. Michelle Tran 279/710 and Jamie Rovner 677 led Linder, while Kevin Gagnon also shot a 279 first game on his way to 726 to lead Tifco.

The night's highest scoring match occurred on 11-12 where the top two seeds squared off, going toe to toe for 30 frames. #1 Seed Keystone Lanes came out swinging, shooting a huge 1048 team game to build a lead over Erickson Foods, who shot quite well themselves with 970. The next game the scoring slowed, Keystone winning 912 to 858, but then Erickson came alive, two guys shooting 279 to pair with 246, 256 for a league high 1060 game to not only win that game, but coming from 132 pins down to win Team Series for a 3-2 win. Scoring leaders were David Brown 279/770, Chris Marquez 279/733, Bobby Campagnale 717 for Erickson, while Keystone was paced by Andre Rounds 287/732, Charles Zelaya 265/731, and Herbert Jones 719.

Moving into the #3 Seed was SYSCO, as they took down Forest Lanes 4-1 in very close finish, the Team Series being decided in the 10th, SYSCO holding on to win by 9 pins. Charlie Kinstler shot 279/753 to lead SYSCO, while Mason Man O' Lantern Sherman carved out a 726 for Forest Lanes. Dave Kovach shot a perfect 300 last game to end with 736, leading BOWLIUM to a 4-1 over J.A.T. whose captain David Yamauchi led the charge with 663.

Also sweeping was American Harvest Vodka, who shot the night's second highest team series with 2877 as three bowlers broke 700. Ramiro Garcia 300/760, Mike Mellick 275/725, and Kevin Jones 267/723 were the scorers for American Harvest, while GJC Services got a 707 from Joey Hanna. Cook's Bowling Supply also won 4 games as Steve Boring 268/689 and Matt Mosley 687 led the way.

Sidepot winners were Game 1 – 3 way tie: Kevin Gagnon, Mikey Villarreal, and Mason Sherman all with 279, Game 2 –Ramiro Garcia 300, good for both 2nd Game and 1st in Financial Advisor's pot. 2nd place was another 279 tie splitting $100 were Joe Jimenez and Jared Lawrence. Game 3 Super Pot went to David Brown with 279, as all sidepots were won with 279 or 300. The TRUE ANCHOR award once again goes to Ricardo Baca with 482, as he was low "man" again.

Four weeks gone in Round 5, four weeks to go. Next week will be humbling after the past two, as we take on the US Open pattern, which typically turns out to be the league's toughest challenge. Honor scores are not likely to happen, but that won't deter the intensity as teams battle for position, or even a roll off spot. We are nearing the end, only 4 weeks to go, so if you haven't watched it live before, come down to Del Rio in Downey next Monday and see the best bowlers in So Cal get it done. Have a blessed week everyone!
